We have been enjoying some wonderful spring weather over the last week and staff and students have seized the opportunity to enjoy the sunshine. For the last two Thursday lunchtimes we have had a staff vs student volleyball match – there has been some tightly contested competition, with the current score standing at 2 games all. It has been a great opportunity for staff and students to mix and have some fun together, whilst showing off their sporting prowess (or lack of?). We have a break this week, but the deciding match will be resumed in the next couple of weeks.

Bring it on!

Information Evenings
Information evenings have been held for parents and students in Years 9, 10 and 11, in order to give everyone a better understanding of the SACE and pathways to achieving it. This week begins subject counselling for students going into Years 11 and 12. We would like all parents to be present at their child’s counselling and will be contacting parents who have not phoned the school to arrange an appointment as yet. Alternatively, you can call the school and arrange a time with the girls in the front office.

Thank you to all of the parents and students who came along to the information evenings.

Interim reports
Interim reports for students in Years 7-11 will be sent home at the end of Week 9, with interviews requested for students who are not achieving satisfactory in either their learning area grades or attitude. Interviews will be held in Week 10 of this term and Week 1 of Term 4.

Rowan Ramsey Award
Nominations for this award can be made using the form attached to the newsletter. If you know of someone (staff, parent or community member) who you would like to acknowledge for their contribution to our school community, please return the nomination to the Front office by September 16.

Nuclear Fuel Cycle – Student Engagement Programme
Last week, Year 11 student Benn Posthumus, was one of four students representing our Central Eyre Partnership, who attended a Nuclear Fuel Cycle Student Forum in Adelaide. The students took part in discussions with a particular focus on the recommendation to develop a high-level geological waste storage and disposal facility in South Australia, which was contained in the Nuclear Fuel Cycle Royal commission.

The students had the opportunity to hear presentations from various people including Nuclear Fuel Commissioner Rear Admiral Kevin Scarce and the Premier Jay Weatherill. They took part in breakout sessions that focussed on issues such as safety, economic considerations, community considerations and storage.

Benn said there were about 150 students and that it was a great experience (despite the 3:30 am wake up to catch the early plane). “They told us a lot about the good and bad and it was nice to know that they will consider our opinions. I was really impressed with how smart the students were and ready to give their opinions. I’m doing a chemistry investigation on the topic of Nuclear Waste and I’m thinking I will change my topic to be more specific and do it about South Australia. I learnt a lot that will help me.”

Well done to Benn who made the most of a fantastic opportunity!

Staffing
Stacy Michael will be finishing at the end of this term to go on Maternity leave. She will be replaced by Lani Hartwig, who is a Biology/Maths teacher who has done some work at our school before. Lani will also be spending some time with Stacey’s classes this term to get to know the students and their programmes, so that she can support our senior students before their all important SACE exams next term.

Special Ed Professional Development
Last Friday, all of our Curriculum Support SSO team and some of our staff attended the Special Ed Expo in Pt. Lincoln, where they had the opportunity to attend workshops and listen to speakers focussing on a huge array of topics, ranging from Teaching Boys with Emotional and Behaviour Difficulties to Supporting Students with Hearing Impairments and Meeting Sensory Needs in the Classroom.

Everyone reported back that it was a highly informative and useful day and they gained lots of ideas for sharing and implementation.

Operation Christmas Child Project

A BIG thank you to those who are making up a Christmas boxes or have donated items into our front office box.

This week - Week 7 please consider donating something into our front office box for personal hygiene to go to an underprivileged child. e.g. soap and a face washer, toothbrush, hairbrush, comb, scrunchies, hair clips etc. Please note we aren’t allowed to pack anything into the boxes that leaks like toothpaste, shampoo, bubbles.

Many thanks - Ruth Tonkin.
Parenting SA Brochures

In the school we now have a number of brochures available for free from Parenting SA. You may have seen some of them, there are often available in community health centres, hospitals and doctor’s surgeries. For the moment, they will be situated in the front office in a folder if you would like to take any that you would like to read and this will be until we find a more suitable ‘home’ for them.

The brochures that we have are:

1. Cyber Safety
2. Safe technology use
3. Grandparenting
4. Peer-pressure
5. Pocket Money
6. Young people, feelings & Depression
7. Young people, alcohol & drugs
8. Young people & food
9. Sleep disturbance
10. Discipline
11. Starting School
12. Tantrums
13. Sleep—0-6 Years
14. Families that work well
15. Lies and Fibs
16. Time in: Guiding Children’s behaviour
17. Bedwetting
18. More than reading & writing
19. Bullying
20. Children’s mental health

These brochures are easy to read, and are either 4 pages or 2 pages long. They are available off the parenting SA website for free and can also be read on the website itself. There are many more available centred around different topics, in total there are over 60 different titles to choose from. The web address if you are interested in seeing what else is available or reading documents on the web is http://www.parenting.sa.gov.au/peglist_general.htm. If you think we need to add to the collection, please feel free to contact me at school.

Head lice
Prevention and treatment

What are head lice?
Head lice are small parasitic insects that live close to the human scalp. Head lice are pests but rarely pose a threat to health.

Outbreaks can be minimised if parents and guardians regularly check children for head lice and follow the recommended treatment methods if active lice are found.

> Adults are called lice and their eggs are called nits.
> Head lice do not fly, jump, hop or swim – they spread by head-to-head contact by crawling.
> Lice don’t care about hair colour or hair type, and they love both clean and dirty hair.
> Head lice do not prefer a particular blood group.

Responsibility
Parents and guardians are responsible for checking and treating children for head lice. Pre-schools, schools and child care centres are not.

School and child care centre staff are responsible for informing parents and guardians of cases or suspected cases of head lice.

Checking for head lice and nits
Check everyone in the household for head lice weekly, or daily during an outbreak.

The wet combing technique is a reliable method of checking for head lice, as the conditioner makes lice easier to detect.

If head lice are detected, start treatment using the preferred method. If only nits are found, chemical treatment is not required but wet combing may be done.

Treatment
The two most common methods used for the treatment of head lice are chemical treatment and wet combing method:

> Chemical treatments use pediculicides, which kill head lice and some nits.
> Wet combing involves saturating the hair and scalp with a conditioner to stun the lice, making it easier to comb the lice and nits out of the hair.

Chemical treatment
There are four main categories of head lice products currently available in Australia: pyrethrins, synthetic pyrethroids (permethrin, bioallethrin), organophosphates (malathion or malathion), and herbal products with or without pyrethrins.

No treatment kills all nits, so the hair must be re-treated after 7 to 10 days to kill any head lice that may have hatched from nits that survived the first treatment.

Only use treatments made specifically for removing head lice.

Do not use a hair dryer after applying a treatment, as the heat can destroy the active ingredient.

Wet combing treatment
Wet combing can be used to check for and treat head lice. Conditioner stuns head lice for around 20 minutes and also makes hair slippery, making them easier to remove. You will need hair conditioner, a head lice comb and paper towel.

Wet combing using conditioner should be avoided for at least one day before and after chemical treatment, or as per the manufacturer’s directions.

Wet combing instructions are available at www.sahealth.sa.gov.au/headlice

Removing nits
Many people interpret the presence of nits as an indication of an active head lice infestation. However, if the nits are more than 1 to 2 cm from the scalp they may be already hatched or dead. It is not necessary to remove all nits if they are dead, although some people may prefer that the nits are removed.

Treatment failure
Reports of failed head lice treatment are not uncommon. Failure can be due to:

> inadequate application of product > lice being resistant to the treatment used > failure to re-treat to kill nymphs newly hatched from nits
> re-infestation

Re-infestation should not be suspected until all the other potential causes have been ruled out.

If the treatment appears to have failed
If a chemical treatment was used, check the instructions and, if they have not been correctly followed (especially the need to repeat in 7 to 10 days), repeat the treatment.

Try an alternative treatment. Check with your chemist to make sure you are choosing a preparation with a different active ingredient.

Try the wet combing method instead of, or as well as, a chemical treatment. Do not use the wet combing method for at least one day before and after chemical treatment or as per the manufacturer’s directions.

Using the wet combing method check the heads of all household members and treat all who have head lice.

For preventing the spread > check for head lice weekly – daily during head lice outbreaks > treat head lice as soon as they are detected > avoid direct head-to-head contact > keep long hair firmly plaited or braided and slick down stray hairs with hairspray or gel
> avoid sharing brushes, combs, hats and helmets
